Making the Most of Your Summer

Program Overview:

International Programs in Engineering (IPE)
The College of Engineering partners with leading technical universities around the world to organize study abroad programs for our students. Work, internship, volunteer, or research abroad opportunities are also available and can set you apart as a global engineer.

Undergraduate Research Opportunity Program (UROP)
The Undergraduate Research Opportunity Program creates research partnerships between undergraduate students and University of Michigan researchers. All schools and colleges are active participants in UROP, which provides a wealth of interesting research topics for program participants.

Engineering Career Resource Center (ECRC)
The Engineering Career Resource Center provides career planning services to engineering and computer science undergraduate and graduate students and alumni. They will be discussing summer internship opportunities.

Engineering Advising Center (EAC)
The Engineering Advising Center provides academic services and support for first year and undeclared students. They will be discussing options for taking classes in the summer.

Selling your Experience
Prepare to fully engage in your summer experience and practice career readiness skills (communication, teamwork, problem solving, etc.), the skills that employers value most when evaluating candidates for internship and full-time employment. Once you know what employers are looking for, you can learn to articulate your experience in a way that connects with their needs.

Open House
Visit with presenters and department Peer Advisors in a relaxed environment to learn more about the opportunities you’re interested in.
